About the District

The Canisteo-Greenwood Central School District encompasses 192 square miles and 11 townships in Steuben and Allegany Counties. Regular education and special education are offered to approximately 1,000 students in Pre-K through grade 12.

The District, which is the product of an annexation in 2004, educates its students in one PreK-grade 7 Elementary/Middle School and one grades 8-12 High School. A Board of Education of seven members oversees the operation of the District.

The Canisteo-Greenwood District has a technology-rich environment with interactive white boards in all instructional spaces and more than 1,000 computers available to students, faculty and staff, with grade 3-12 issued 1:1 devices. In 2014, we completed a $6.8 million capital project and will be seeking a new capital project during the next year.

The district is operating with a budget of approximately $23,306,620 and receives approximately 75 percent of its funding through state and federal sources.
